2001 THIRD QUARTER REVIEW

Cambridgeport has the fifth largest population of all the neighborhoods, which partially accounts for the higher target crime figures. • No Cambridgeport housebreak patterns were evident during the third quarter, although 2 addresses experienced multiple breaks on the same day. • Of the 11 street robberies that occurred during the second quarter, only 3 involved a weapon. No physical harm was done to any persons involved, and stolen items include cash and backpacks. • 12 of the 35 auto thefts were reported at the Budget Car Rental at 220 Mass. Ave. and the Radisson Hotel at 777 Memorial Dr. A high concentration of the thefts from 220 Mass Ave. occurred on Mondays. A majority of the cars were not recovered. • Larceny from motor vehicles, like other motor vehicle related crime, has increased this year. Thieves either smashed a window or pried the door handle to gain entrance and once inside, targeted wallets, stereos, and computers. • This neighborhood experienced a 13% increase in Malicious destruction incidents. Again, 777 Memorial Drive reported the most incidents. All of the incidents involved damage to cars parked in the garage of the Radisson Hotel. • Two of the drug arrests were made of Cambridge residents using drugs outside of the Cambridgeport Saloon.

NEIGHBORHOOD PROFILE AND HISTORICAL SYNOPSIS

Cambridgeport has the fifth highest residential population of the city's neighborhoods. It is characterized by several large apartment buildings as well as many one, two, and three family houses. The neighborhood is bordered by a string of retail stores, hotels, and restaurants on Memorial Drive, River Street, and Massachusetts Avenue.

- Street robberies have long been the most serious crime problem in Cambridgeport. As with Area 4, Cambridgeport's street robberies tend to concentrate near Massachusetts Avenue and Central Square. They are often predatory, and are usually committed after 9:00 at night on weekends.
- Housebreaks, usually higher than average in Cambridgeport, have declined significantly since the 1980s. The average number of housebreaks since 1991 is half of the 1980s average. And they have declined another 30 percent since 1991. Cambridgeport's housebreak rate can be attributed to its large, densely packed residential population.
- Cambridgeport has continually experienced the highest rate of auto theft since the 1980s. The 1999 Camry Auto Theft pattern helped to displace Cambridgeport's number one ranking by setting East Cambridge and Area 4 as the top two.
- Larceny from motor vehicles usually registers high in Cambridgeport.
- The homeless shelter on Albany Street is often a scene for street robbery and aggravated assault between its patrons.
